LIPTON WOULD PRESENT YACHT AMERICA TO U. S.

Tells Why He Wants to Purchase Schooner That Won Prize He Can't Recover.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—With reference to his expressed desire to purchase in the United States the schooner yacht America, which in 1851 won the America's Cup, the blue ribbon prize of the yachting world, Sir Thomas Lipton today said to the Associated Press: "I feared the America might be broken up if sold, and this would be a pity on account of her great historic association. Since I have not been successful in lifting the America's Cup, I thought the next best thing would be to buy the winner of it and present it to the American nation."

Season's First Big Snow Delays Cleveland's Traffic.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 2.—Five inches of snow fell here yesterday in Cleveland's first real snow storm of the season. The storm caused little delay to railroad traffic, but lake traffic was badly hampered.

A STRENUOUS NIGHT WITH ADAMSON IN FIGHT FOR A CITY

Fusion Candidate Invades Three Boroughs in Whirlwind Campaign.

Robert Adamson, Fire Commissioner and Fusion candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, had a busy night of it last night, thoroughly in keeping with the strenuous campaign he is making. From a meeting of more than a thousand persons in Schuetzen Park, Astoria, he came back to Manhattan, headed the Eighth Avenue division of the big torchlight parade, then reviewed it; made a speech at Madison Square Garden, then took in another meeting at Grand Central Palace and wound up with another hot speech in Blaney Hall, in Brooklyn.

Commissioner Adamson made a brief reference to himself and his record in the Fire Department. He took the issues of the campaign, the issue, rather, for he said that the one question before the voters of the city was "to be Tammany or not to be Tammany."

"New York," he said, "is to decide whether it is ready to go back to Tammany or continue the present Administration, which has been clean, strong and intelligent. Judge Hyman was nominated by Tammany, as were Craig and Smith. They can't dodge behind Mr. Hillquit. Mr. Craig is the law partner of Murphy's Senator and Mr. Smith is a lifelong officeholder.

"When I say that the Administration is the cleanest the city has ever had, I speak with a knowledge derived from twenty years' contact with the city departments—four years a part of the present Administration, four years as secretary for the late Mayor Gaynor and twelve years a newspaper man, in constant touch with the City Hall. The old conditions under the police—gambling, vice, disorderly houses—have all disappeared. Tammany has a platform, but it isn't mentioning it in this campaign. It contents itself with scandalous criticism of the Administration, sweeping in its denunciation, but making no specific charges.

"Tammany hurled the charge of extravagance at us. Mayor Mitchell invited Judge Hyman to come down to the City Hall and show where he would decrease the new budget; but the judge didn't come. He knew that he couldn't lay a finger on one item which wasn't necessary and wisely kept away. There is a Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to be directed for the handling of the city's millions of dollars. How the fingers of Tammany itch to close on those positions.

CANDIDATE TELLS OF TAMMANY'S RECORD.

"Tammany hasn't changed its colors since the creation of Greater New York. It has had three Mayors since then. Van Wyck was the first and gave us the very worst administration the city ever had. McClellan came next and tried to live up to the standards of Tammany, but couldn't do it. He couldn't stand for them. Then came Mayor Gaynor, who was elected in spite of Tammany and four years later they nominated another candidate. They have had two Governors—Dix, who was wrecked by Murphy and his followers; and Sulzer, who wouldn't obey the dictates of Tammany and they impeached him. They have had a Commissioner Adamson was frequently interrupted by applause, and there were many women in the audience at Astoria. The Commissioner's name is a household word with the heads of families all through Greater New York. They know what he has done in the way of saving homes and saving lives; and he took occasion to answer some of the arguments of Sheriff Al. Smith, who is running against him for the Presidency of the Board of Aldermen.

"Mr. Smith," he said, "makes a strong point on the report of the fire insurance companies which shows that losses last year amounted to $1,300,000 more than my estimate. Now, the Board of Underwriters has been doing that for many years, not for the past three or four, but from time immemorial. You understand why, of course. It is an argument they make in their attempt to show that insurance rates shouldn't be reduced.

"But Mr. Smith evidently believes that comparisons are odious, so he makes none. He doesn't tell his audience that the total reduction in losses for the three years of my administration, compiled by the fire insurance companies, compared with those of the three years previous, was $5,900,000."

WHEN ADAMSON'S HEART WAS THRILLED.

Down to Eighth Avenue at the corner of Fifty-eighth, Mr. Adamson was driven, and there his division was awaiting the word to march. It was a sight which would have made any man feel proud. With bands of music, torchlights and transparencies, like in the good old days of our fathers, thousands of voters were awaiting his command to march. In the line were representatives of the insurance companies, rubber manufacturers, silk manufacturers, hardware and other industries who were to a man behind the candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen.

Even the Commissioner, who has been the coolest head in the hottest of fires, was thrilled by this outspoken expression of the people; and he went down the line, where the side streets were filled with waiting marchers, all there to attest to his fitness for any position in the city's gift, and he must have felt well repaid for the work that he has done in the last four years.

There were more thrills in Madison Square Garden, where were gathered throngs of people interested in the welfare of the city, men and women who believe in clean government; men and women who have only one country, no matter what the land of their birth, when that country is engaged at war. There were flags waving, the Stars and Stripes only, and behind them the arms and voices of men and women ready to be raised to salute, for the cause of freedom and democracy, for the sake of the boys over the seas, an ignominy or any Hun or son of a Hun hiding under them giving aid to the enemy. And into that gathering marched "Bob" Adamson. A lot of them knew him, and when his identity was made certain by the introduction of Judge Charles E. Hughes, the Chairman, they gave him the "Hi, hi!" and three cheers.

"We have the greatest city in the world," said Commissioner Adamson, in his peroration. "Are we going to surrender all the good that has been done, having raised it to where it is pointed to as the best that America has, to let it go back to a condition which will make it a reproach to the world?" There the Commissioner stopped. The audience was on its feet to give its answer and to emphasize the answer, when in through the entrance to the Garden came former President Roosevelt, the Colonel in his best form. The ovation to the Colonel lasted for many minutes, and the Commissioner, perforce, shared the ovation.

SULZER CAUSES ARREST OF A BROOKLYN HECKLER

Calls Interrupter "Drunken Loafer," and Agent Charges Disorderly Conduct.

Former Gov. William Sulzer addressed a meeting last evening under the auspices of the City Democracy in the Palm Garden, Hamburg and Greene Avenues, Brooklyn, in Judge Hyman's Assembly District.

"This red-nosed, obese boss, Murphy," said Mr. Sulzer, "is telling us he wants his trusted leaders in office. He knows he can't feed his tiger cubs in Delmonico's, so he wants to send them down to the City Hall to fatten up."

James Laddan, a street car conductor of No. 418 Menahan Street, Brooklyn, asked why Mr. Sulzer did not say something about Judge Hyman. Sulzer promised to "take care of Judge Hyman later."

Laddan waited a while and repeated his query. Sulzer invited him to step up on the platform. Laddan refused. When he had finished his address, Mr. Sulzer strode down the center aisle and, pausing midway, shouted: "Where is the drunken loafer who interrupted me?"

Laddan got up and denied he was drunk. He told Sulzer that he had been one of the delegates who attended the Syracuse convention in 1912 that had nominated Sulzer for Governor.

Mr. Sulzer insisted Laddan was drunk and instructed his publicity agent, Jacob K. Novins, to arrest the conductor. In the Hamburg Avenue Police Station Novins made a charge of disorderly conduct. Laddan gave bail. He will be arraigned to-day in the Gates Avenue Court.
